Course Description

This program allows prospective instructors to gain an in-depth understanding of dropped object prevention, and to prepare them to teach our 4-hour Dropped Object Prevention course. Qualified candidates, who possess the skills to teach and manage a classroom environment, will be immersed in this fast-paced development program where the Dropped Object Prevention program is dissected by the lead instructor. Candidates have the opportunity to ask questions and learn the structured course material. The last day will include a written theory test and a topic teaching evaluation.
